

IRIS and the Cerebral Palsy Society

in association with Interacting Disability Arts Theatre presents

Journeys

This is the second show from the group that gave us “The World in Focus” in 2009. The performers (who have disabilities) explore their own experiences of journeys in all their forms - real, imagined, internal and in life. A common thread begins to emerge that binds members of the ensemble, but ultimately everyone travelling is on their own journey. With original music composed by the group, flying dance and art from Spark Studio, this promises to be another intriguing and moving piece of theatre. There will also be an art exhibition in the foyer at TAPAC, themed around personal journeys with a silent auction during the two days of the performance.

There are limited seats, so reserve your tickets today.
